The GDPR is incorporated into Norwegian law via section 1 of the Personal Data Act. NOKUT complies with the national act and the regulations set forth in GDPR.

Lawfulness of processing personal data

NOKUT lawfully processes personal data when evaluating foreign education and/or vocational education and training, cf. GDPR Article 6, 1. e). One aspect of evaluation is the need to verify educational documents and gather information regarding the degree or the educational institution. In order to issue a decision, it is vital that NOKUT receives the requested information from the third party, usually the educational institution or the relevant national authority. NOKUT is considered the data controller, and is responsible for the lawful processing of personal data.

General obligations of the data controller – data protection in NOKUTs case managing systems

NOKUT uses the Public 360 archiving and case management system for electronic recording and storage of documents. Public 360 is supplied by Tieto and complies with public standards (NOARK). The archive manager has been delegated everyday responsibility for the system and manual archives.

Applications for approval of qualifications are recorded in eSam, NOKUT's own case management system, which includes the application portal. NOKUT processes personal information to fulfil our statutory obligations as laid down in e.g. the Higher Education Act, the Tertiary Vocational Education Act, the Education Act, the Public Administration Act, the Freedom of Information Act and the Archives Act.
